18/09/07: Games: At long last, the Later Polish won..! Riding hard, the noble Polish knights smashed the Ottoman centre while holding off their Sipahi's on the left flank. Meanwhile on the Right, the Lithuanians surrounded and decimated the Wallachian Light Horse. A partially successful ambush helped to bring about the ruination of the Turkish invasion plans. There may have been more knight and cavalry casualties in the centre but we called it a day at 11:30 (after a late start). A definite Polish victory.

11/09/07: Games: No photo's I'm afraid, but the game went well. We managed to fight it to a conclusion. The Ottoman Turks won, managing to stop the charge of the Polish knights on their left wing, while causing trouble in the centre with their Artillery. The Walachian / Lithuanian flank conflict came out in favour of Vlad's countrymen. The Ottoman Cv (S) are very hard to deal with, but I have a few idea's for next time. It looks like we will be playing DBMM again next week, but might do a bit of side-swapping; Bob fancies having a go with the Poles, and I wouldn't mind trying the Lithuanians actually. We shall see. Website: I've put a few PDF's together for the Products page. Still plenty to do for the Events.

10/09/07: Tonight's game is a DBMM Medieval Eastern Europe clash featuring the Later Polish (with Lithuanian allies) against the Ottoman Empire (with Walachian allies). Battle report to follow.
